The Salvation Army George W. Jenkins Community of Hope is one campus where quality programming can be provided in a safe, encouraging neighborhood to assist families facing the crisis of homelessness.

Join us in helping change the lives of these parents and create a long-lasting impact in the lives of their children, which will continue on through future generations.

The Salvation Army
George W. Jenkins
Community of Hope
offers a neighborhood
of 21 fully-furnished apartments for the two-year Family Living Program, 20 efficiency
units for families in immediate crisis, and childcare for over a hundred homeless

children throughout
West Polk County.
These programs
provide more than a place to live, they give families hope for the future. We invite you to come out and see these expanded programs.

Experiencing the 49-acre community development firsthand
will provide greater insight into what we do throughout West
Polk County.

STANDING FOR HOPE

To help us succeed, many individuals, businesses, foundations and churches will need to join in this effort.

Thank you for your continued support, and in sharing our vision for

... a future filled with hope.
